Brantley Police involved in July 4th shooting incident

On Wednesday, July 4, Brantley Police officers were requested by a business owner to investigate a suspicious vehicle in 9600 block of South Main Street, in Brantley, Ala.

At approximately 7:22 a.m., officers arrived and found two men asleep in a vehicle, with a firearm visible on the console between them. The men were awakened by police and fled, leading officers on a short vehicle pursuit.

Initial reports were that the vehicle was driven directly toward an officer who was on foot, and that officer fired his weapon into the windshield, striking one occupant. A male subject was transported to a local hospital for treatment of his injuries, which were reportedly sustained by law enforcement gunfire, and were not believed to be life threatening.

As is standard procedure in most law enforcement involved, use of deadly force events, City of Brantley Police Chief Titus Averett requested the Alabama State Bureau of Investigation (SBI) conduct an independent investigation into the shooting. SBI Agents immediately responded to Brantley and are currently conducting an investigation.

Once the investigation is completed, a copy will be turned over to the Crenshaw County District Attorney. No additional information is available at this time.

Elba Police arrest Georgia teens on alcohol/drug charges

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Four Georgia teenagers found themselves in trouble with law enforcement officers in Elba last weekend after they were discovered to be in possession of alcohol and illegal drugs.

Elba Police Chief Leslie Hussey said Elba Police officers made what they thought was a routine traffic stop Saturday, July 7, on Alabama Highway 203 at Hickman Avenue; however, he said it turned into more than that once officers discovered the vehicle occupants had drugs and alcohol in their possession.

The driver and three passengers of the vehicle, all residents of Georgia, were arrested and each charged with possession of marijuana – second degree, possession of drug paraphernalia, and minor in possession of alcohol. Those arrested were Alex Barber, age 18; Connor Gaston, age 18; Christopher Graham, age 19; and Jacob Shehee, age 18.

Also last week, Chief Hussey said Elba Police officers arrested a man wanted as a fugitive from justice in Texas.

Again, the chief said officers had made an apparent routine traffic stop on N. Claxton Avenue in Elba, but soon discovered the driver of that vehicle was wanted as a fugitive from justice.

Timothy Russom, age 22, of Montgomery, Ala., was arrested at that time. He was charged with fugitive from justice and possession of marijuana – second degree.

Chief Hussey said the suspect was taken to the Coffee County Jail where he awaits extradition back to Texas.

News Brief:

Elba Police Chief Leslie Hussey immediately went to work last week looking to fill his staff. His first order of business was to hire a second in command for the Elba Police Department.

Chief Hussey filled that Lieutenant's position with longtime law enforcement veteran Dale Cobb.

Lt. Cobb served with the Elba Police Department as a patrol officer early in his career before becoming an Alabama State Trooper, a job in which he retired from after many years of service.

Chief Hussey said he is extremely happy to add Lt. Cobb to his staff and he looks forward to adding more quality officers to the staff in the near future.

4TH OF JULY IN ELBA WAS A BLAST! The City of Elba, through the organizing efforts of the Elba Chamber of Commerce, again this year presented its "Let Freedom Ring" event on July 4th in celebration of Independence Day for the nation. As always the highlight of the evening is the big fireworks show presented by Elba native Mike Holderfield for all to enjoy, and this year's show was said to be the best ever! The event also includes several other family-oriented activities that lead up to the fireworks. This year's event featured anything from free watermelon to a concert. See Page 10 for more.

Two public hearings held Monday evening, July 9, prior to the Elba City Council meeting were well attended by citizens (as shown above). Receiving lots of feedback was the hearing dealing with a CDBG grant proposal to upgrade the façade of buildings around the square.

Several Elba citizens attend public hearings

by Ferrin Cox, Publisher

The Elba City Council met Monday evening in two public hearings, prior to the regular meeting. Council member A R Williams was not present.

The first hearing was to consider a rezoning request that had been recommended by the Elba Zoning Board. After some discussion and consideration of two opposition letters, the council approved the rezoning to R-1 (single family dwelling) for a parcel of land on Larkin Road. All four members of the council later voted in favor of the change and Mayor Mickey Murdock abstained.

The second hearing took longer and no real agreement was reached. The hearing on a CDBG grant proposal to upgrade the façade of buildings around the square was well attended by the public and opinions of council members ranged across the spectrum.

Rachel Armstrong of SEARDC, of Dothan, presented a master plan for a facelift of all businesses on the square, as needed. A large part of the grant project, if approved, would go to completing the work on the old theater, allowing it to be used for community events. Restoration 154

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

A very low (15-18%) voter turnout is expected for next week's run-off election. Voters should remember they can't vote a Republican ticket next week if they voted on the Democratic side last month. It is against state law!

We still don't have lots of magic answers for potential voters. Of course that should force each person to decide their personal likes and dislikes and find someone who fits closer to those standards. Our ideas are not always the most popular, especially during election years. The below candidates are all Republicans.

The race for Lieutenant Governor has turned into an especially bitter affair. Public Service Commission President Twinkle Andress Cavanaugh and State Rep. Will Ainsworth continue to exchange accusations over the airwaves aimed to make the other seem untrustworthy, which is a common and sometimes effective campaign tactic. Relatively little has been said about actual policy. What bothers us here is that Twinkle is talking about Ainsworth's "criminal record" and it is very misleading. He was with a bunch of college buddies that got caught in a prank on campus, many years ago. He also got a ticket - not arrested - for a boating violation (i.e. like a speeding ticket). That sort of mud slinging ticks us off and our punishment for the person who slung the mud is to vote for Will Ainsworth.

The race for Attorney General took an odd turn with the tragic death of incumbent Steve Marshall's wife, Bridgette. Marshall says he's staying in the race and fighting to keep his job partly to continue his work on mental illness, addiction, and suicide to honor his late wife. Elba native Troy King has resumed some negative ads after a pause, but that's a double-edged sword. Polls takers are suggesting Marshall is still ahead, so King has no choice but to campaign aggressively, but that can backfire on him as well if he is not careful.

President Trump stepped into the race for Congress in the 2nd District when he endorsed Rep. Martha Roby. Her opponent, former Congressman Bobby Bright, has appeal with moderate Republicans or former Yellow Dog Democrats, but that likely won't be enough to overcome GOP voters supporting a Trump-blessed incumbent in the runoff. We have been a bit disappointed in Bright's politicking plan. When he was in office before, he was everywhere, always. During this campaign we saw, and talked with him, only once and that was away from Elba. Like it or not, Roby will take this race.

For Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries, Lowndesboro Mayor Rick Pate is still ahead of State Sen. Gerald Dial. Pate held a ten-point lead over Dial in the primary and promises to hold, or extend that lead. We still like Gerald Dial, but will not cry if Pate wins.

The Supreme Court race between Brad Mendheim and Sarah H. Stewart will go to Stewart, that is almost a given. Of course she is trying to ride the Trump wagon and it is apparently working.

There are two appeals court runoffs. For Court of Civil Appeals, Christie Edwards is the favorite to win over Michelle Thomason due to a nine point primary advantage, fundraising, and consolidated support. The same is true of Chris McCool, who is facing Rich Anderson in the race for Court of Criminal Appeals. McCool also had a nine point advantage in the primary and the support of most every influential political group. We like both of the leaders in these races.

District (#91) has a State Representative race with Rhett Marques and Lister H. Reeves Jr. butting heads. Marques won the first primary but Reeves has been working tirelessly to overcome that problem. Both men are good folks, pick your choice.

We encourage you to research the candidates for yourself and decide who is most deserving of your vote. Get beyond the political talk and dig deeper to find which candidate shares your hopes and goals for our state and country. Then, go vote!

The Coffee County School System is in the process of identifying all persons with disabilities, ages 3-21 years, who are not enrolled in an educational setting, and all 0-3 year old children with disabilities.

The parent of a child with disabilities, or those who know of someone who is disabled, are asked to contact the principal of the local school or the special education coordinator office at the Coffee County Board of Education at 334-897-5016.

LBW Community College helps save textbook costs for students

LBW Community College students are experiencing financial savings as more courses are converted from typical textbook usage to open education resources (OER).

"A few years ago, our mathematics faculty successfully redesigned several basic math courses using OER material, saving students more than $300,000 on average each year they would have paid for required textbooks and computer codes," said LBWCC President Herb Riedel.

"Now, as we convert more and more courses in academic transfer and technical training, the cost savings will continue to climb."

OER is a national trend for two-year and four-year institutions of higher education, he said.

The U.S. Government Accountability Office reported in 2013 that textbook prices rose 82 percent between 2002 and 2012, at three times the rate of inflation.

"For at least the last 15 years, more and more materials in a number of subject areas have become available online. By using freely accessible, openly-licensed material, students are saving a lot of money."

According to the Hewlett Foundation, OER are teaching, learning, and research materials in any medium, digital or otherwise, that reside in the public domain or have been released under an open license that permits no-cost access, use, adaptation and redistribution by others with no or limited restrictions.

"Some LBWCC faculty are currently offering OER in courses they teach, with several more working toward that goal."

OER is already available or being developed at LBWCC for courses in psychology, physical science, general chemistry, welding, industrial electronics, and many others, he added.

"With the majority of our students eligible for Pell Grant funds, the money they save by not having to buy textbooks is money in their pocket. Any grant funds remaining after tuition and fees are paid are sent to the eligible students with no restrictions on how they spend it."

The refunded money can be used for living expenses, such as rent, gas, groceries, and clothing, he said.

"Pell Grant refunds are typically spent locally, helping the local economy, instead of being used to support publishing companies outside the state through buying textbooks."

LBWCC was recognized on a national level this year by the American Association of Community Colleges for the various approaches to student success, including cost savings in the redesigned math courses, he added.

"We are always seeking opportunities to help our students succeed, and will continue efforts to utilize OER when possible."

LBWCC Fall semester registration begins July 13 with classes beginning Aug. 20, 2018. For more information, visit www.lbwcc.edu.

WIC income guidelines increase

Alabama families may qualify for the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children, better known as WIC.

If you are a woman who is pregnant, who had a baby within the past six months, who is breastfeeding or who is the parent or guardian of a child up to age 5, you are encouraged to apply for WIC at your local county health department or WIC agency. Participants in the program receive free nutrition education and breastfeeding peer counseling support. In addition, participants have the option to receive up to three months of food benefits at a time for each qualified family member.

Food benefits are redeemable at WIC-authorized stores throughout Alabama.

Under the 2018 federal poverty guidelines, more families may be eligible for the program. WIC is open to participants with incomes up to 185 percent of the federal poverty level.

WIC participants must have both a limited income and a nutritional need. Families who receive Medicaid, SNAP or Family Assistance already meet the income qualifications for WIC. Even families who do not qualify for these programs may be eligible for WIC because of its higher income limits.

Amanda Martin, WIC Director, Alabama Department of Public Health, said, "WIC encourages families to be healthy by providing nutritious foods. Nutritious foods help children grow to be healthy adults and pregnant women to have healthy babies."

For more information or to check and see if your family is eligible, go to <http://www.alabamapublichealth.gov/wic> or call the statewide toll-free line at 1-888-942-4673.

ELBA CHURCH OF CHRIST

God's Recipe for Good Thoughts

The devil has raged a battle for the minds of men, women, boys, and girls. He is aided greatly by the mass media which often portrays unrealistic and unchristian views of life and distorted values. To whom will we surrender our minds? To God or Satan. As an individual, as a church, and even as a nation, we progress or fall backward morally and spiritually, based on our thinking.

Paul's thoughts were against Christ prior to his obedience to the gospel. According to Acts 26:9, Paul said, "I verily thought with myself that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth". Acts 22:19-20 tells of Paul confessing that he imprisoned and beat in every synagogue them that believed on God, and that he was actually there when Stephen was stoned, consenting to his death.

When God destroyed the world and all of mankind with a flood, it was because of man's wickedness: "and every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually." "Genesis 6:5

Philippians 4:8 covers it all regarding clean living and good thoughts. "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things."

TRUTH: Ephesians 4:25, Col. 3:17, Eph. 5:9 Lying will cause your life to FALL APART. Lying caused David to suffer terrible guilt. 2 Sam. 11:12, Psalm 32:1-4 Ananias and Sapphira lost their very lives because of lying. John 8:32 says, "the truth shall set you free."

HONEST: In this passage it means honorable. Romans 13:13, says "let us walk honestly; as in the day". An honorable man is respected by friends and rivals alike.

RIGHTEOUS: Titus 2:12, says, "teaching us that denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world."

JUST: We should try to do the right thing all the time.

PURE: We must have clean thoughts. Romans 12:21, "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good." Also read the "verse of the day" below.

Follow God's r recipe for Good Thoughts and see what a difference it makes in your life!

Democratic nominee for Alabama Attorney General
Siegelman says principle role of AG is administration of justice

Joseph Siegelman believes justice should be non-partisan, and it's a concept he'd like to apply to the operation of the Alabama attorney general's office.

The 29-year-old won the Democratic nomination for the office earlier this month.

"The principle role of the attorney general is the administration of justice," Siegelman said while making a campaign swing through South Alabama recently. "You cannot apply the law fairly, equally and impartially if you are at the same time executing a political agenda. I have said this a number of times: It should not matter, not for this office, if you have a 'D' beside your name or an 'R' beside your name.

"To have fair, equal, and impartial application of the law, you've got to be an independent," he said.

The son of former Gov. Don Siegelman said he never aspired to politics. In fact, he really doesn't like politics.

"But I saw what was at stake in the AG's race," he said. "I was disappointed by the wasteful spending and frivolous lawsuits I had observed. I knew the state needed a quality alternative they could vote for in November."

Too often, he said, Alabama's attorney generals have brought or joined lawsuits that don't really affect the people of Alabama.

"Our state has brought lawsuits based on actions in San Diego, Calif. What good does that do the citizens of Alabama," he said. "If you focus on the issues affecting citizens of this state, within the borders of this state, the people of Alabama will be better off."

The opioid crisis is perhaps the issue that most concerns the candidate.

"We are treating it like a criminal justice problem, and not the public health crisis that it is," he said. "Our prisons in Alabama are overcrowded, largely because they're being used to warehouse with people with mental illness or drug addiction."

He rattles the statistics off quickly. Ninety percent of the people currently incarcerated in Alabama are serving time for drugs or drug-related crimes. The prison system is not providing rehabilitation, which contributes to a recidivism rate of more than 70 percent.

"We are incarcerating people who could be in diversion programs, not be in prison housed on taxpayers' dimes," he said.

He would like to see drug courts and mental health courts expanded.

"Whenever possible, we should send somebody to a diversion program designed to benefit them and their families. In turn, it benefits the community," he said.

The goal, he said, is to have productive citizens as a result of diversion or incarceration programs, rather than people who leave with the same issues that put them there.

Siegelman believes as attorney general he could use the resources of the attorney general's office to hold large, out-of-state corporations accountable for misleading families into believing opioids aren't as addictive as they are.

Joseph Siegelman

"It has cost our friends and families their lives," he said. "We prescribe more pills per person than any other state in the country, yet we were the last to join a coalition to fight the problem."

He pointed to a 41-member coalition of AGs from around the country working together to fight the opioid epidemic.

"We were the last state to join," Siegelman said. "We cannot afford to be last. We, as the people's lawyer, can hold accountable the corporations that harmed us and cost us millions of dollars."

The crisis, in turn, is putting communities at risk of HIV outbreaks, because opioid addicts eventually turn to heroin, and needle sharing.

"There is no single approach that is going to solve this crisis," he said.

He proposes forming a task force from the AG's office to develop ways to deal with what he sees as an urgent crisis.

"We may need help from the legislature and the governor's office," he said. "It is costing us as a state more money to not address this problem."

Siegelman also is passionate about the need to look out for the state's aging population.

"We want to make sure that they are free from fraud and abuse, whether online or otherwise," he said.

"The attorney general is in a unique and important position," he said. "The No. 1 change we need is that change of mindset and change of attitude of the attorney general as people's lawyer rather than the party's lawyer. That's why I'm offering myself for attorney general."

Siegelman is a graduate of the University of Alabama Law School and is the managing partner in the Birmingham office of The Cochran Group. He is quick to point out that, if elected, he would be 30 when he takes office.

"Bill Baxley was only 28 when he became attorney general," he said. "I think we need that positive energy and drive that I bring to the race."

Siegelman will face the winner of the July 17 Republican run-off between incumbent Steve Marshall and former AG Troy King. The General Election is Nov. 6.

Rep. Martha Roby visited Fort Rucker this week

U.S. Representative Martha Roby (R-AL) visited the Army Warrant Officer Career College at Fort Rucker Monday to commemorate the 100-year anniversary of the founding of the Army Warrant Officer Corp.

While at Fort Rucker, Representative Roby presented the Congressional Record entry she authored designating July 9th as National Warrant Officer Day.

"Throughout their 100-year history, Army Warrant Officers have proudly represented the expertise and professionalism that led to their founding on July 9, 1918," Representative Roby said. "The resolution I offered in the House to designate July 9 as National Warrant

Coffee County Republican Women set to meet Wednesday, July 18th

The Republican Women of Coffee County will meet Wednesday, July 18, at 11 a.m., at the Enterprise Country Club.

Guest speakers will be House Representative Barry Moore and Ed Foy. Moore will discuss the outcome of the last Legislative session and the Alabama Ethics Commission. Foy will give a briefing on how President Trump's tax cuts will affect the state.

Social time begins at 11 a.m.; optional $12 buffet at 11:30; business conducted at 11:45; and the program begins at noon. Everyone is invited, but reservations are necessary. RSVP by calling Jan White at 494-3763 or email: rwccreservations@gmail.com.

Officer Day is just a small token of appreciation for the service and sacrifices of our brave men and women who have served or are currently serving as Army Warrant Officers."

Last month, Representative Roby, who is Co-Chair of the Army Aviation Caucus, along with the support of the entire Alabama delegation in the House as cosponsors, introduced H. Res. 947 to designate July 9th as Warrant Officer Day.

The Army Warrant Officer Corp was established on July 9, 1918, and this year marks their 100th year of service to the U.S. Army. Today, Army Warrant Officers serve as technical experts, combat leaders, trainers, or advisers who fall into one of two categories: Aviators or Technicians. Army Warrant Officers serve on active duty, U.S. Army Reserve, and Army National Guard.

Our grandson Lawson continued his 'wet and wild' summer vacation last week with a trip to Shipwreck Island, in Panama City. His mom and Aunt Melanie joined him on the trip, and they stayed until the water park closed as Lawson rode the zip line, sped through tunnels and barreled down long water slides. My little man had to be tired by the time he day ended, but told me the next day he wanted to go back. Ah, to be young!

For what it is worth....

 The Coffee County All-Star and Zion Chapel All-Stars tangled last weekend at the Dixie Softball State Tournament, in Troy, and the Stars from Zion Chapel got a leg up on their cross-county rivals with a big 10-0 opening round win. The two teams battled to a scoreless tie through two innings, but Zion Chapel took advantage of 13 walks in its half of the third inning to plate ten runs and post the win. The winner of the 'best-of-three' series will punch their ticket to the Dixie World Series, in Arkansas, and will join the Coffee County Ponytails at the annual softball extravaganza.

 Former Elba Tiger head coach Will Hulsey was named last week as the new head baseball coach at New Brockton High School. Coach Hulsey spent seven years on staff at Enterprise State with his dad, Tim Hulsey, before joining the Gamecock staff a year ago, and will now once again be the man in charge. Hulsey learned from one of the best during his years at Enterprise State, not just one of the best coaches, but also one of the best men ever to pull on a uniform. If he can remember half the things his dad taught him over the years the Gamecocks will be in very good hands and will be successful both on and off the field.

 The Elba Tigers got back down to work this week after ten days off and Coach Pate Harrison made it clear that changes were ahead in the team's work schedule and the level of intensity expected from the players and coaches. Coach Harrison stated after a couple of recent seven-on-seven camps that some of his players didn't play to win and failed to do their best on every play. The new Tiger head coach vowed this would change in a hurry and that in all future workouts there would be consequences to pay for those that did not give their all. Sounds like it is time to get to work at Tigertown.

 A federal court judge threw out a motion by St. Paul's Episcopal for immediate relief from the AHSAA ruling concerning a new rule that pushed the Saints up to Class 6A in football. The Alabama High School Athletic Association is comprised of member schools that are represented on all policy-making boards and as such basically make their own rules. This statute has held up in court a number of times over the years, and as long as the AHSAA follows its own rules should remain undefeated against member schools that feel slighted.

 As I am writing this, less than a month away from the beginning of school, Kinston High School still doesn't have a head coach in the sports of football, men's basketball and softball. At a 1A school I am sure all these head coaches are also active and help in other sports. So, one has to wonder how long it will be before the coaching slots are filled. Rumor has it that another head coaching opening will occur at another county school in basketball, which will mean the folks at the county board have a lot of work to do in a short amount of time.

 In closing.... the fishing has picked back up at the Coffee County Lake, and despite heavy afternoon rains and hot temperatures, fishermen are coming back and enjoying their outings at the 86-acre lake. The lake is open on Wednesday-Sunday from sun'up until sundown, and the fish are just waiting for a snack. The staff at the Bait Shop will help you find the fish and the right bait to catch'em. So, c'mon out and wet your hook today!

DIXIE DARLINGS SOFTBALL ACTION.... from the summer season was always fun to watch as the players from all the teams played hard and enjoyed their time on the field. In the photos above, a pitcher looks to throw to first after fielding a grounder and a batter heads to first after getting a big hit.

Zion Chapel walks off with 10-0 win over Coffee County All-Stars at state tournament

The Coffee County All-Stars and Zion Chapel All-Stars collided Saturday night in the opening round of the Dixie Angels State Softball Tournament at the Troy Sportsplex, in Troy, and although the game was scoreless after two innings and neither team managed a hit in the third inning, Zion Chapel took advantage of 13 walks to walk away with a big 10-0 win.

The only Coffee County player to reach base during the three-inning contest was Leilani Perdue, who drew a first inning walk, as the remaining nine batters that went to the plate all struck out.

Zion Chapel failed to put a runner on base in the opening two innings and watched as four batters struck out. However, consecutive walks to S. Norris and J. Bailey to open the bottom of the third signaled a major change in the direction of the game, as a total of 13 All-Stars drew walks in the inning and the game ended with Zion Chapel on top 10-0.

Scoring runs for Zion Chapel in the third inning outburst were A. Bassett, K. Hodge, H. Sessions, S. Boothe, V. Faircloth, S. Norris, J. Bailey, K. Jordan, G. Paramore and C. Clark.

Summer camp safety tips

Summer camps provide a great opportunity for children and teens alike to make lasting friendships, while being physically active and developing life-long skills.

Although the goal of summer camp is to keep children healthy and safe, it is not unlike school or daycare settings where children and staff can become sick if proper handwashing is not practiced. Often these camps provide children with the opportunity to participate in nature and water activities, which expose children to germs that thrive in these environments.

Within the past few weeks, three separate outbreaks at summer camps have been reported.

The most common ways in which illnesses can spread in these settings include food, water, animals, person-to-person, mosquitoes and ticks. These outbreaks are still under investigation, but diarrhea or vomiting has been reported as the primary symptom.

"Parents, it is recommended that you keep your child home if he or she has been sick in the two weeks prior to them attending any type of summer camp," Epidemiologist Amanda Ingram said.

When sending a child to summer camp, think about packing some basic supplies that will give him or her a head start at preventing illness including:

- Disinfecting wipes that contain bleach
- Insect repellents that contain 20 percent or more DEET
- Light-colored clothing.

Finally, parents and staff should stress the importance of washing hands, rather than using hand sanitizers, as those products are not effective against illnesses caused by viruses (such as influenza and norovirus). In the event soap and water are unavailable, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer that contains at least 60 percent alcohol to reduce the number of germs on hands.

To report an outbreak, please contact the local health department or ADPH district investigator.

Hulsey named new baseball coach at New Brockton

The New Brockton Gamecocks didn't have to look far for its new head baseball coach as assistant coach Will Hulsey was promoted to the position on June 27.

Hulsey will replace former head coach Brad Barton, who led the Gamecocks to a 95-33 record during five year at the helm, including four straight area championships.

Coach Hulsey is the son of longtime Enterprise State Community College head coach Tim Hulsey and has extensive experience at both the high school and college level as both a player and a coach.

Hulsey, a graduate of Enterprise High School, played two years at Enterprise State for two years and then received a scholarship to Middle Tennessee State University. After graduation from MTSU, he was an assistant at the University of West Alabama, the head coach at Elba High School, and then returned as an assistant at Enterprise State. He left ESCC and joined the staff at New Brockton High School in 2017 as an assistant coach in both baseball and football.

"I learned all the aspects of the game of baseball from my dad," stated Hulsey in a published interview. "He ran a college program for thirty years and had to do a lot of things right to do it that long. I learned how to manage time and how to approach the game, not just the on-field things, but also a lot about things that happen off the field. I learned how to discipline a player and how to deal with parents, all things that are involved in running a program."

When asked about accepting the head coaching position at New Brockton, Coach Hulsey said in a published interview, "Coach Barton really set the bar high. I learned a lot from him and he has done such a fantastic job with this program during his time here."

"If you look at the facilities at New Brockton," continued Hulsey, "they are the best in southeast Alabama. It is certainly the best in 2A baseball, and if a player wants opportunities to grow and get better, it is here. The area championship will always be the goal for our teams here at New Brockton. However, wins and losses aren't my biggest priority. My main priority is to give these players the skills to be able to reach the next level if that is something they want to do. That is both athletically and academically. I want to provide them with the proper tools to get to the college level and that is as much about growing up and being a man and being disciplined as it is playing on the baseball field."

Elba STEM students enjoy ‘checking out’ plane as part of their summer program

The 21st Century Community Learning Center (CCLC) S.T.E.M. Summer Program at Elba City Schools continued recently with students getting to enjoy and ‘check out’ a plane at the Carl Folsom airport in Elba.

The owner and pilot of the plane is a family member of Carol Laney, who assists with the STEM program. He flew-in to Elba specifically for the Elba students to be able to learn more about an aircraft.

Send the citizen’s candidate to the State House!

OPEN. HONEST. AUTHENTIC.

“Simple fairness dictates that government must not raise taxes on families struggling to pay their bills.” RONALD REAGAN

I wholeheartedly agree with Ronald Reagan and will oppose tax increases for the citizens of Coffee County.

My opponent, as an Enterprise City Councilman, voted for a sales tax increase. Currently, he is being endorsed by special interest groups in Montgomery. These groups are now working to raise taxes on Alabama citizens.

Does my opponent feel the pressure from special interest groups to raise taxes?

I believe there are state agencies in Alabama that wastefully spend tax dollars. The level of conservative debate is what needs to be raised in Montgomery...not your taxes! I will fight to cut bureaucratic waste in Montgomery.

I will FIGHT to OPPOSE TAX INCREASES!

Scenes from Elba's "Let Freedom Ring" 4th of July celebration

The courthouse square in Elba was booming with activity for the Let Freedom Ring event.

New police chief makes first address to Elba City Council

by Ferrin Cox, Publisher

Monday evening, July 9, the Elba City Council opened with a report from new Police Chief Leslie Hussey.

Hussey addressed the city fathers for the first time since assuming the position as chief. He thanked the council for the opportunity to serve Elba.

Chief Hussey said retired State Trooper Dale Cobb had agreed to come out of retirement and help with the policing of the community. Cobb worked for the Elba Police Department about 20 years ago.

The chief explained that much of his time thus far has been spent inventorying and find what the department has and does not have. He agreed with council members that he wanted the officers in the department to know the council members and for the council members to know them. He recalled being introduced to the council himself in 1983, by then Chief John White.

The police department is still short officers and is actively seeking more certified law enforcement personnel.

Assistant City Clerk Pat Boothe updated council members with progress of ongoing projects. She began with acknowledging that grass cutting was a never-ending job during the wet summer months. The grass cutting efforts, and recent rains, put city crews behind in repairing street pot holes. Repair to the levee lights is moving forward, Boothe added, and should look better and last longer.

Officials reported that Donna Falls is doing a great job managing the Elba Senior Citizens Center. Her efforts with the senior citizens has resulted in Elba receiving allocation of five additional meals daily.

Monthly bills totaling $144,473.48 were presented and approved for payment.

Real estate agent Kaye Ellis addressed the council concerning the old Elba Drug Building and needed repairs for a potential buyer. Mayor Mickey Murdock told her that mold and damages to the building were not caused by the city, the adjoining building was not torn down by the city, etc. He noted that the city did change the watering of shrubs adjoining the building to keep it off the walls and added a "French Drain" to handle excess water from the area.

Ellis was also told that nothing the city did caused the crack on the side of the building.

The council approved a resolution on an engineering firm to administer the proposed CDBG grant project. Southern Engineering was awarded the contract. Cost of this work will be paid from the proceeds of the grant.

The council also approved the Larkin Road rezoning request that had been discussed in an earlier public hearing.

would be donating $50,000 to this part of the project. The balance of the grant would be for work on the fronts of buildings around the square.

The discussion got confusing over the pros and cons of requiring the property owners to pay a percentage of the cost. Armstrong noted that grant reviewers liked to have projects that carried near 100% participation. She added that the owners could not be required to pay into the project, thus running the chance of a low participation rate, and loss of the $450,000 in grant funds.

Council members discussed various variations of the first proposal, with suggestions of requiring 5%, 10% and "volunteer" financial help from property owners. Another thing mentioned was extending the area of upgrade past the courthouse square if funding allows it.

Mayor Murdock noted there were plans to do more later using Main Street grants.

The council must vote on this grant application at its next meeting, two weeks from now but left the grant writers with no clear path that it would get approval from the city council.
